Colquhoun and Bassett) for the Farmers and Dairymen's Company, and their agents, the Dairy Farmers' Milk Company and their vendors, and other employers.

This was an application for the constitutions of a branch of the Milk and Ice Carters' Union.

Mr. Broome suggested that owing to the varied interests involved the board should consist of two members on each side, instead of one.

Mr. Bassett held that there should be two separate boards, one for the ice industry and the other for the milk trade, as the employers' interests in these businesses were not identical.

His Honor did not see any reason for constituting two boards, but thought Mr. Bassett's argument supported the proposal to increase the number of members to two, on the ground that the employers' interest was nothing now to prevent a body being buried in a private ground, unless it was done in accordance with the custom existing at the time of burial, and at the wordings of the Statute, which he had to construe, he did not see any reason to limit the meaning of the word in section 13, and he therefore entered judgment for the defendant.

MENT, said that with regard to the alleged illegal distress, it was said that the warrant was issued against the defendant, and signed by the landlord. It was not signed by the landlord in the ordinary sense, but the name in which defendant carried on business, but he had no objection to the evidence, that plaintiff knew perfectly well who was intended. He was also of opinion that the evidence, that there was a will on the part of the defendant to inflict excessive distress, there was no evidence that the plaintiff suffered any damage.

The verdict must therefore be for the defendant on the counts.

TAXING A PRIVATE CEMETERY.

DEFENDANT SUCCESSES.

(Waverley Council v. O'Brien.)

Mr. Garland, instructed by Mr. Stinson, the plaintiff, and Mr. Currie, the defendant, Mr. T. Ormond O'Brien, for the defence.

This was a claim by the Municipal Council of Waverley for recovery of rates alleged to have been due to the house, a small manseum situated in Francis-street, Waverley, the amount claimed being £17 13s 3d for the year 1907-8. The land was not raisable on the ground that it was used as a private cemetery. Defendant said he had been used as a family burying-ground for years.

His Honor delivered the following reserved judgment:—It was admitted that the land was used as a cemetery, and that it had been and was still used as such by the plaintiff O'Brien's family. The original owner set it apart for this purpose by a conveyance which had duly registered. Something had been said about the plaintiff's right to perpetuals, but he did not think he need trouble about that question, because, assuming that the land was used as a cemetery, and certainly it would appear that the plaintiff's family could not take advantage of the "cemetery clause" in the trust. The only point he had to determine was whether private cemeteries were included in the word "cemeteries" used in section 13. Its collection of the rates was not charged in the general sense. The wording of section 13, and section 15 of section 10, seemed to favour this view, but the amendment of section 13 of the amending Act which uses "to prohibit burials in cemeteries" was to cover the view. Clearly, the word "burial" referred to a place of burial in ground which was not part of a cemetery, public or private. The two cases of cemetery and cemetery were distinguished and pointed to its being used in its general sense. ## BRITISH BUDGET.

SQUARING THE FINANCES.

WHISKY AND TOBACCO PENALIZED.

UNIMPROVED LAND TAX.

SINKING FUND INVADED.

LONDON, April 30.

Great interest was taken in the delivery of the Budget Speech by Mr. Lloyd George, Chancellor of the Exchequer. A deficit was predicted some time ago, and the due attention which was paid to Mr. Lloyd George while he spoke was anticipated. In fact, keener interest was displayed than in any budget speech since that of Sir William Vernon Harcourt in 1894.

The House of Commons was crowded, with the exception of the strangers' gallery, where there were not so many present.

Mr. Lloyd George, in a speech which preceded four and a half hours in delivery, made certain proposals calculated to increase his revenue as to avoid a deficit at the termination of the current financial year. He claimed that the increased expenditure proposed, £164,152,000, would be incurred with the unanimous assent of all parties.

The growth of temperature had added considerably to the difficulties of the Government, which had to find an extra £16,000,000. If that extra amount were collected it would leave a surplus at the end of the year of £88,000.

It was proposed to reduce the deficiency.

Mr. Lloyd George continued, by reducing the contribution to sinking fund by £3,000,000. The income tax on incomes earned below £2,000 would remain at 4d, below £3,000 at 1s, and above £3,000 at 2s. A further surtax of 6d would be imposed on incomes of over £10 per week. There would be an abatement of £10 per child on all children under 10 in respect of incomes under £2,500.

The income tax changes were estimated to yield £3,000,000, and it was expected that in the following year the surtax alone would give £2,300,000, based on the amount by which incomes exceeded £3,000.

TAX ON MOTOR CARS.

UNEARNED INCREMENT ON LAND.

A sum of £2,850,000 would be raised by a revision of estate duties, and £50,000 would be won by increasing the stamp duties on share transactions. Motor cars It was proposed to tax from 4s to 40 guineas, according to their horse-power. Doctor's cars would pay half the prescribed taxes, and motor cycles would be taxed to the extent of £1. Petrol would be penalised to the extent of 3d per gallon, with a rebate of 1d per gallon to commercial cars. It was anticipated that the motor taxes would bring in a sum of £600,000, and it was proposed to spend the proceeds on the improvement of roads.

The Budget also proposed that the State should take 20 per cent. of the unearned increment in the value of land, payable at death; and that when the land was sold a further 6d in the £ should be levied.

In respect of the 6d on the unearned land and mineral, not less than one-half in the £ on mining royalties, and a 10 per cent. reversion duty on benefits accruing at the termination of a lease. The land taxes, it was estimated, would produce £500,000.

DEAR WHISKY.

INDUSTRIAL INSURANCE.

LONDON, April 29.

Replying to a question by Mr. H. H. Aspinwall (Nationalist), in the House of Commons, Mr. G. E. H. Bowles, Financial Secretary to the Treasury, said that the cost of old-age pensions in Ireland amounted to £2,329,732 annually.

Prince Henry of Prussia is at Heligoland with 49 warships, including 18 battleships, 6 armoured and 10 smaller cruisers, which are engaged in a month's manoeuvring.

NATAL RAILWAY STRIKE.

ULTIMATUM TO MEN.

LONDON, April 30.

The Natal Government has issued an ultimatum to the men of the State railway service who are out on strike.

The ultimatum states that the strikers will be dismissed, and forfeit all the privileges which the service allows unless they return to work on Monday.

GENERAL CANALS.

MINIATURE RIFLE SHOOTING.

LONDON, April 29.

England's score in the miniature rifle match was 14,583.

LIBERALISM OR LUNACY.

LONDON, April 29.

Mr. Lloyd George said that the greater part of the cost of Dreadnoughts would fall next year. If contingent ships were built the Naval Bill would be gigantic. Nevertheless, the Government did not intend to avoid its obligations in regard to the navy. Failure to do its duty would not be Liberalism, but lunacy. But it would be an act of the greatest foolishness to throw away £8,000,000. The Government could not build a navy against themselves. The increased yield from the new taxes would probably make the necessary provision for the navy next year possible, without resort to the vicious expedient of a loan.

The House agreed to the spirits, tobacco, and petrol duties by 281 votes to 120.

FREE TRADE FINANCE.

HAS IT BROKEN DOWN?

PRESS CRITICISMS.

THE "TIMES" STATES THAT THE GOVERNMENT PROPOSES TO COVER THE DEFICIT AT THE COST OF FAIRNESS AND FAIRLY WELL-TO-DO; AND THAT

the doctrine of social ransom has never before been carried quite so far.

The "Daily Mail" says that the Government proposes to plunder the middle classes, and that the Budget shows that trade finance has hopelessly broken down.

The "Standard" expresses itself thus:—"Ministers have fished away vast revenues from coal, sugar, and tea, and are now without the courage to recant."

On the other hand, the "Manchester Guardian" declares, that Mr. Lloyd George has vindicated the elasticity of free-trade finance.

The "Chronicle" thinks that the Budget is bold, but that Mr. Lloyd George deserves a bad speech, which wearied the House of Commons. He was so anxious it says, to sketch future developments of the Liberal policy, that the Budget became a political manifesto.

COLONIAL LOANS.

EFFECT OF STAMP DUTIES.

The Budget contains a proposal that the stamp duty on bearer bonds and other securities transferable by delivery shall be raised from 10s to 20s per cent. of the nominal value. The duty on bonds which are issued by colonial Governments, however, remains at 2s 6d per cent.

The "Times" expresses the opinion that the stamp duties will operate very disastrously to bankers, who will be paralysed with respect to raising colonial co-operation loans. Such loans, in future, it predicts, will be obtained by New York bankers.

PREVENTION OF SWEATING.

BOARD OF TRADE'S BILL.

LONDON, April 29.

The bill initiated by the Board of Trade against sweating was read the second time in the House of Commons last night.

There was no opposition, but Mr. Alfred Lytton considered that the measure allowed too much latitude to the Board of Trade.

Mr. Balfour, leader of the Opposition, delivered a sympathetic speech, adding that it was impossible to refuse to consider foreign competition.

The central principle of the bill is the establishment of trade boards in certain trades, where the employers and the workers, by fixing by these trade boards of a minimum standard of wages, and the enforcement of strict rules, will be enabled to control their own affairs.

They will be charged with the collection of information on the subject of unemployment. The trades selected will include ready-made clothing, which will include tailoring, carding, box making, iron making by machinery, net making, and spinning.

There will be three expert paid officials, and in all trades where workers are armed, a board of arbitration will be established.

All political offenders at Tabriz, and Tehran have been amnestied.

A later message states that the Shah has dismissed his Prime Minister and War Minister, and given both portfolios to his uncle, Nabi-Sultaneh, who is an incorrigible reactionary. This has led the British and Russian representatives at Teheran to express strong disapproval to the Shah. And they have informed him that if their representations are unanswered by Sunday they will be compelled to request another audience.

vised, has been most heartily in sympathy with the manner in which the policy of the Federal Government had been received.
